MEMORANDUM FOR THE CHAIRMAN, U. S. INTELLIGENCE BOARD

25X1 SUBJECT: Award for [redacted]

25X1 This memorandum is in response to Item No. 3 of USIB-M-80, dated 9 February 1960, which noted that means of recognizing the substantial contribution of [redacted] in the field of intelligence should be explored further within State, Defense and the Central Intelligence Agency.

A review of the directives concerned with awarding the Medal of Freedom and the Legion of Merit reveals that one award is possible in this instance--i. e., the Medal of Freedom with palm by, or at the direction of, the President. Under the circumstances, the gold palm would appear to be the proper degree of medal to bestow.

25X1 If an award is given at the direction of the President, it could be presented by either the Secretary of State or the Secretary of Defense. Inasmuch as the organization headed by [redacted] is part of the [redacted], it would seem more fitting for the award to be made by the Secretary of State. This procedure would also obviate the need to make specific references in the citation to intelligence of any kind, thus reducing the security classification of the citation and eliminating any security problems attendant in making this award.

It is therefore recommended that the U. S. Intelligence Board request the Department of State Member to proceed with this matter.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Executive Secretary, United States
Intelligence Board

SUBJECT: Recognition of [redacted]

25X1

1. This memorandum includes recommendations for approval by the Chairman, United States Intelligence Board.

2. FACTS

a. Use of the Medal of Freedom to recognize cooperation and collaboration of foreign officials with activities of the United States, particularly in the interests of the security of the United States, is quite appropriate. Examples of such uses within the past two years include State's presentation on 4 July 1958 of the Medal of Freedom with Silver Palm to Baron de Fernig, Commissioner General, Brussels International Exhibition; essentially for assistance in establishing the United States Pavilion. Also in 1958, Navy recognized three British civilians who aided the United States Navy in developing the steam catapult by presenting Medals of Freedom with Bronze Palm. Again in 1958, United States Air Force conferred two Medals of Freedom with Bronze Palm--one to the Chairman, Spanish Central Control Committee for assistance to JUSMAAG; the other to a senior French liaison officer in Morocco.

b. Army used it twice in 1956 to honor Swedish and German Red Cross officials, and in 1955 with Bronze Palm conferred it on a Korean National Police official. General Hull, when leaving the Far East Command in March 1955, presented the Medal of Freedom with Gold Palm to Syngman Rhee; but this was probably a White House award.

3. DISCUSSION

a. To aid in selecting an appropriate level of the four different grades of the Medal of Freedom a comparison with other United States decorations for service or achievement follows:

Awarded to foreign personnel	Awarded to U. S. personnel
Medal of Freedom w/Gold Palm Legion of Merit, Chief Commander	= Distinguished Service Medal
Medal of Freedom w/ Silver Palm Legion of Merit, Commander	= Distinguished Service Medal
Medal of Freedom w/Bronze Palm Legion of Merit, Officer and Legionnaire	= Legion of Merit
Medal of Freedom without Palm	= Bronze Star Medal

b. The equivalent of the Medal of Freedom with Gold Palm is the Legion of Merit in the degree of Chief Commander. This decoration is usually reserved for Heads of State and awarded by the President of the United States. Hence, the Medal of Freedom with Silver Palm would appear to be most appropriate for the

25X1
[redacted] as it equates with the Legion of Merit, degree of Commander and thus is one step higher than the Legion of Merit, degree of Officer presented to [redacted] for wartime services.
